

A SPECIAL MESSAGE FROM ASPB CHAIR JOHN FREEMAN

Friends,

Arkansas Soybean Month is back, and the Arkansas Soybean Promotion Board is ready to celebrate. Throughout November, we will honor the contributions of Arkansas soybean producers and raise awareness of this row crop's importance to the state economy and its versatile use in the agriculture industry. During the 2023 crop season, the Arkansas soybean industry reached record highs but not without challenges for farmers. This year nematodes have presented a personal difficulty, but thanks to the University of Arkansas System Division of Agriculture Cooperative Extension Service's complementary nematode testing kits, funded by checkoff dollars, both myself and fellow farmers can effectively assess our crops' future health. This is a great example of how your checkoff dollars are working for you! Producers can claim their free testing kits by contacting their county's extension office.

Let's come together to celebrate the dedication of Arkansas soybean producers as they drive the state's agriculture industry forward. Follow us on Facebook, Twitter and Instagram to learn about Arkansas Soybean Month, soybeans and the work of Arkansas soybean producers. Encourage your friends and family to follow the ASPB on social media, too. With your support, more people in Arkansas will know about the hard work producers do to keep Arkansas a leading soybean-producing state and a top agricultural state.

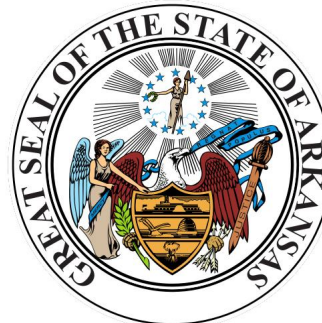

John Freeman
